

Bryan Declines to Be Interviewed NEW NATIONAL COMMITTEE MEETS

LINCOLN, Neb., June 19.—William J. Bryan today declined to discuss the work of the Republican National Convention. He received bulletins of the events of the morning and these were telegraphed to his library at Fairview. He entertained a number of callers during the morning. This afternoon he prepared an analysis of the Republican platform. This he probably will make public tomorrow.

TAFT AND SHERMAN STANDARD BEARERS OF THE REPUBLICANS

CONVENTION ADJOURNS SINE DIE

Nomination of the Vice-President Ends Labors of Delegates.

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago, June 19.—The executive work of yesterday's session in the Republican National Convention, the promise of another day of sweltering heat and the fact that the great event in the program had transpired all combined to cause a scanty arrival of delegates today.

Small Attendance. The effect was even more marked in the number of spectators. When the convention was called to order there was not present a twentieth part of those who witnessed the opening of the day before. The crowd outside the Coliseum was far smaller, too, and altogether the general interest in the convention was at low temperature compared with that of yesterday.

Feared Flood of Oratory. The early prospects was for another flood of nominating speeches, as no arrangements had been made to curtail the oratory on the Vice-Presidential candidates. Every speaker was entitled to as much time as he elected, according to Senator Lodge.

"There is no agreement concerning the speeches," he said, but I have an idea the convention itself will take some action that will prevent extended remarks."

Cannon Enters Quietly. Among the early arrivals in the convention hall was Speaker Cannon, who entered quietly and unobserved. He came down the aisle until he reached the seats of the North Carolina delegation, where he was met by Myron T. Herrick of Ohio, with whom he held a brief conversation.

He was notified by the delegates for the first time as he stood with Mr. Herrick and an earnest round of applause went through the convention hall.

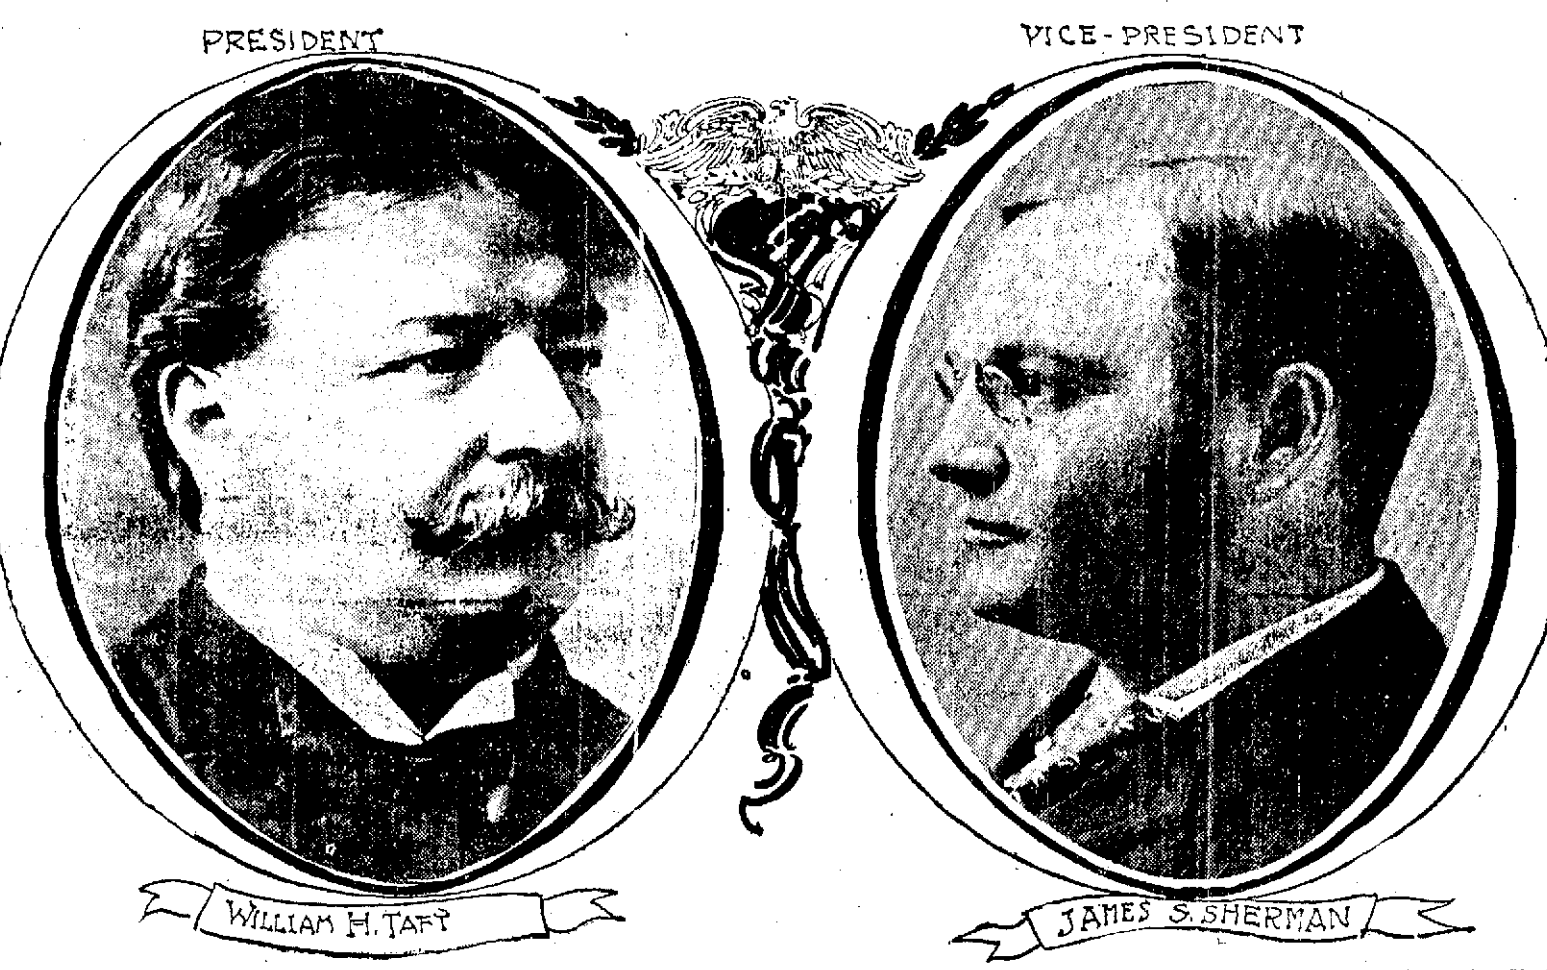

Sherman the Man. As the delegates began to arrive in strong force at the convention hall the word that the vice-presidential nominee was to be Jas. S. Sherman of New York commenced to filter through.

The report steadily strengthened and in a few minutes the "grapevine telegraph" was carrying around the hall the statement that an agreement had been reached on the question. J. Sloat Fassett of New York confirmed, on his arrival, the report that it was to be Sherman and he asked Chairman Lodge to delay calling the convention to order until two brass bands, which had been hired by the New York delegation, could arrive.

The chairman agreed to this, saying: "I know there is nothing to it but Sherman."

Called to Order. It was 10:18 this morning when the gavel of Chairman Lodge began to pound for order. There were scores of empty seats on the floor and in the balconies. Rabbi Schanfarber of Chicago made the opening prayer. The

IDEAL CANDIDATES AND PLEASING TO ALL SECTIONS AND PEOPLE EVERYWHERE

By Senator George C. Perkins "Taft and Sherman, as the head of the National Republican ticket are ideal candidates. You can't say too much in favor of either one of them. Taft is a man of high character and splendid executive ability. I think every man in California, irrespective of party, will approve of these nominations, and the country in general, and the Republican party as a whole, will be suited.

GOV. GILLETT PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO SELECTIONS OF THE BIG CONVENTION

Governor Gillett, when talking over the long-distance telephone to THE TRIBUNE from his executive office in Sacramento this morning, expressed the greatest satisfaction over the result of the Republican National Convention and the choices made in Chicago for President and Vice-President. The Governor spoke as follows:

By Governor Gillett "The party has made a splendid selection in Taft. He is a broad-minded, conscientious man and has for the past two years been closely connected with the executive phase of the nation. Mr. Sherman is a prominent citizen of New York, and has served a number of years in Congress, where he was given an opportunity to become familiar with all matters of vital interest and importance to this country. He served with me in Congress, and there is not too much which I could say in praise of this man. The ticket suits me absolutely, and will be eminently satisfactory to the Republicans of the country."

EXCELLENT TICKET AND ONE WHICH WILL BE SUPPORTED BY ALL THE REPUBLICANS

By Congressman Joseph R. Knowland The exceptionally strong ticket nominated at Chicago will be enthusiastically received by Republicans throughout the nation, and particularly in California where Roosevelt and Taft sentiment is so very strong. The ticket will have the enthusiastic and active support of Roosevelt. This in itself means thousands of votes. Seldom have candidates been nominated for the highest offices within the gift of the people who are better equipped in every way to assume the responsibilities than Secretary Taft and James S. Sherman. Secretary Taft has shown wonderful ability in the way in which he handled the Philippine and Cuban questions; his administration of affairs at Panama has given additional evidence of his wonderful executive ability. Among the members of Congress generally no man is more popular or more highly regarded than the Secretary of War.

W. H. TAFT'S DEVOTION TO DUTY

CAREER OF WAR SECRETARY A LESSON AND EXAMPLE FOR AMERICAN YOUTH

Earnest Endeavor and Lofty Ideals of Patriotism Are His Inspiration

William Howard Taft, who has been nominated by the Republican National Convention for the presidency, is a man exceptionally equipped, not only by nature and training, but by experience and achievement, to perform the delicate and arduous duties of the greatest office in the gift of any people. For nearly thirty years he has given himself with single-minded devotion to the public service.

Broad Grasp, Dauntless Courage.

He has displayed throughout a broad grasp of affairs, a literally dauntless courage, an unshakable integrity, a quick and all embracing sympathy, a deep and abiding sense of justice, a marvelous insight into human nature, a sure and unswerving judgment, executive ability of the highest order, and a limitless capacity for hard work. In all the years of his history the Republican party has never selected as its leader in a national campaign a man so tried and tested, and so amply proved equal to the task.

Family of Jurists.

Mr. Taft comes of a family distinguished in the law and the public service. The first American Taft came across the Atlantic by the great upheaval for "conscience's sake" which peopled New England with its sturdy stock. In this country they turned to the study and practice of the law. Peter Taft was both a maker and an interpreter of laws, having served as a member of the Vermont Legislature, and afterwards as a judge. Alphonso Taft, son of Peter, was graduated from Yale College, and then went out to the Western Reserve to practice law. He settled in Cincinnati, and it was at St. Auburn, a suburb of that city, on September 15, 1857, that his son, William Howard Taft, first became a presidential possibility.

Regard for Duty.

The boy grew up in an atmosphere of earnest regard for public duty too little known in these days of dissipation and grossing material development of the country. His father earned distinction in the service of city and state and nation, going from the Superior bench, to which he had been elected unanimously, to the place in Grant's cabinet now held by the son, then, as Attorney General, to the Department of Justice, and finally into the diplomatic service, as minister first to Austria and then to Russia. His mother, who was Miss Louisa M. Torrey, also came of that staunch New England stock with whom conscience is the arbiter of action and duty performed the goal of service.

His Mother's Influence.

It was her express command that sent him away from her last fall when both knew that she was entering upon the last stage of her life. He had promised the Philippines that he would go to Manila and in person formally open their Assembly. It was to be their first concrete experience in self-government, and he, more than any other man, had made it possible. If he should not keep his promise there was danger that the suspicious Filipinos would impute his failure to sinister motives, to indifference or altered purpose, with result vastly unfortunate to them all.

Mr. Taft saw all this very clearly, yet in view of his mother's health he would have remained at home. But she forbade. She said his duty lay to the people he had started on the path to liberty, and although it involved what cut thought to be the final parting she commanded him to go. He went, and before he could return his mother had passed away.

Expectation Fulfilled.

Much was to be expected of a boy of such parentage, and young Taft fulfilled the expectation. He began by growing big physically. He has a tremendous frame. The cartoonists have made a false presentation of him familiar to the country by drawing him always as a mountain of flesh. But if they had gone to the same extreme of gauntness, and still honestly portrayed his frame, they would have represented a man above the average weight.

At College.

Of course he went to Yale. His father had been the first alumnus elected to the corporation, and when young Taft had completed his preparatory course at Andover he went to New Haven for his college training. He was a big, rollicking, good-natured boy, who liked play but still got his out of work. He did enough of athletics to keep his 225 pounds of muscle in good condition, but gave most of his time to his studies. When the class of '78 was graduated Taft was its salutatorian, having finished second among 120. He was then not quite 21.

Good Work as Reporter.

His salary at first was $5 a week. He did his work so well, however, that Morat Halstead, editor of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, employed him to work for that paper, at the increased salary of $25 a week. While he was doing this he was keeping up his studies, taking the course at the Cincinnati Law School, from which he was graduated in 1880, dividing first honors with another student, and being admitted to the bar soon afterward.

His Respects to Blackmailer.

That fall there occurred one of the most celebrated and characteristic incidents in his life. A man named Rose was then running a blackmailing paper in Cincinnati. He had the reputation of being a dangerous man. He had been a prize fighter, and was usually accompanied by a gang of roughs ready to assault any whom he wanted punished. Alphonso Taft had been the unsuccessful candidate for governor at that election, and Rose's paper slanderously assailed him. For once young Taft forgot his judicial temperament and legal training, and instead of setting the law on the blackmailer he marched down to his office and gave Rose a terrific thrashing. When Rose begged for mercy Taft said:

Miscrants Driven Out.

"If you'll agree to leave town I'll let you go. I'll come down here again tonight, and if you are still here then this thing is only a start."

Rose was glad to get off on such terms. He quit Cincinnati that night and his paper never appeared again. Young Taft had had his first spectacular fight, and it was in behalf of somebody else.

The Call to Public Office.

He was hardly out of his boyhood when he was called to public office, and in most of the years since then he has devoted himself to the public service. First he was assistant prosecuting attorney of Hamilton county, and helped to drive out the old Campbell family, whose influence long had dominated the Cincinnati court house. In 1881 he became collector of internal revenue for the first Ohio district, and demonstrated the same ability in business that he had shown in the law. A year later he resigned that office and went back to the practice of law, with his father's old partner, H. P. Floyd. In 1883 he became assistant county solicitor. Two years later Governor Foraker appointed him judge of the Superior Court, to succeed Judge Hamilton, who had resigned to enter President Cleveland's cabinet.

In 1886 Judge Taft married Miss Helen Herron, daughter of Hon. John W. Herron, of Cincinnati. They have three children, Robert Alphonso, a student at Yale, Helen, a student at Bryn Mawr, and Charles Phelps, 2d, who attends the public schools in Washington.

His Judicial Career Begun.

His appointment as judge of the Superior Court was the beginning of the judicial career which was Taft's ambition, and for which he was so eminently fitted. He made such a record as a judge that at the close of his appointed term he was triumphantly elected for another term. But already he had attracted attention outside his State, and he had served but two years of the five years for which he had been elected when President Harrison asked him to take the difficult post of Solicitor General of the United States. This was an office of the utmost importance, involving not only wide learning and tremendous application, but the power of clear and forceful presentation of argument.

Important cases.

Two of the cases which he conducted as solicitor general involved questions of vital importance to the entire country. The first grew out of the seal fisheries controversy with Great Britain. Mr. Taft won against such eminent counsel as Joseph H. Choate, who is widely recognized as a leader of the American bar. The other was a tariff case in which the law was attacked on a ground that Speaker Reed had counted a question when this bill passed the House. That too, he won. It was during his term as solicitor general that Mr. Taft met Theodore Roosevelt, then civil service commissioner, and began the friendship which has continued and grown ever since and which has had such far-reaching influence upon the lives of both men.

On the Federal Bench.

Mr. Taft's record as solicitor general so clearly proved his fitness for the bench that after three years in Washington he was sent back to Ohio as judge of the Sixth Federal Circuit, a post generally recognized as a preliminary step to the Supreme Court, which was then the goal of his ambition.

It was during his seven years on the Federal bench that Mr. Taft's qualities as a judge became known throughout the country. He was called upon then to decide some of the most important cases that have ever been tried in the Federal courts, in the conduct of which he established an enviable reputation for learning, courage and fairness—three essential attributes of a great jurist. His power of application and his ability to turn off enormous masses of work received ample demonstration during this time.

Upright and Fearless.

It was in this period of his service that he rendered the labor decisions which have made him famous as an upright and fearless judge. In his treatment of both labor and capital he showed that here was a judge who knew no distinction of parties when they appeared as litigants before him. He voiced the law as he knew it and the right as he saw it, no matter where the blow fell or whom it struck. If sometimes the decisions went against what organized labor at that time believed to be its cause, it must not be forgotten that no clearer or broader statement of the true rights of labor has ever been made than in some of his judicial utterances. Lawyers conducting litigations in other courts on behalf of labor unions have often cited these decisions of Judge Taft in support of their contentions.

Anti-Trust Decision.

Neither should it be forgotten that one of the most important and far-reaching of all his judgments was that against the Addyston Pipe Company, in which for the first time the Sherman anti-trust law was made a living, vital force for the curbing and punishment of monopoly. When this case reached the Supreme Court, Mr. Taft received the distinguished and unusual honor of having his decision quoted in full and handed down as part of the opinions of the high court which sustained him at every point.

Pioneering the Roosevelt Policy.

This Addyston Pipe decision marked the beginning of the struggle for federal control of interstate corporations which in the later years has come to be known as the "Roosevelt policy." Mr. Taft in an address to the American Bar Association at Detroit, in the summer of 1896, had expounded the principle on which President Roosevelt has made his great fight for the suppression of monopoly and the abolition of special privilege. Thus, Mr. Taft pioneered the way for the "Roosevelt policy."

Blazing the Philippine Trail.

Since the settlement of the reconstruction questions no more delicate or fateful problem has confronted American statesmanship than that of the Philippines. The sudden opening of over-sea territory into our possession as a result of the war with Spain, created a situation not only unexpected but entirely without precedent. There was no guide for our statesmen. The path had to be hewed out new from the beginning. There was no crystallization of opinion among the American people as to what should be done with the Philippines. A considerable element was vigorously opposed to retaining them, but the vast majority demanded the maintenance of American sovereignty there. Among these, at first, the desire was undoubtedly due to the glamour of aggrandizement.

Saw Responsibility.

The possibility of wealth somewhere beyond the skyline always catches the imagination, and there can be no question that the great mass of the people moved, with serious thought of the consequences toward American exploitation of the islands.

But even at that early day there were a few—a very few—among the leaders of American thought and action, who saw clearly the responsibility thrust upon the country by the adventitious possession of the Philippines, and determined to meet it fully no matter what clamor of opposition might arise. Among these President McKinley was one. Mr. Taft, however, Mr. Taft had been opposed to taking the islands. He was opposed to retaining them. More than all he opposed their exploitation for American benefit. He believed that the Philippines belonged to the Filipinos, and should be developed in the interest of their own people.

The White Man's Burden.

He saw the possibility of lifting a foolish, ignorant people into the light of liberty and setting them upon the path to intelligent, efficient self-government. That possibility reconciled him to the continuance of American authority over the islands, for none saw more clearly than he the chaos certain to result from immediate independence for the Filipinos, with its inevitable and speedy end in complete and hopeless subjection to some other power. Therefore when President McKinley asked him to go to Manila and undertake the difficult and thankless task of starting the Filipinos upon their true course, he sacrificed the judicial career which was his life's ambition and shouldered the "White Man's Burden." It was in March, 1900, that he received his appointment as chairman of the Philippine Commission.

Filipinos Were Sullen.

Not many Americans have ever comprehended thoroughly the size of Mr. Taft's undertaking, or the full meaning of his achievement. Through a bungle in our first dealings with Aguinaldo and the Filipinos the entire native population of the islands had come to believe, with some reason, that the Americans were their enemies and had betrayed them. Mr. Taft arrived in Manila to find a people sullen, distrustful, and suspicious. They were still struggling, with the bitterness of despair, against the power in which they all saw only the hand of the oppressor.

Overcoming the Barrier.

Moreover, their leaders had been incited by the belief that because they were not white there was an insuperable barrier which would always prevent the Occidental from understanding and sympathizing with the Oriental. The experience of generations had confirmed them in that belief. The only government in their knowledge was tyranny. The only education in their history was deceit. The only tradition they possessed was hatred of oppression, made concrete for them by their experience with western domination.

Persuasive Power.

That was what Mr. Taft had to face, and in three years he had overcome and changed it all. He did it by the persuasive power of the most winning personality the Filipinos had ever known. He met them on their own level, ate with them, danced with them, and he showed them that here was an Occidental who could read and sympathize with the Oriental heart. He gave them a new occupation of justice, and they saw with amazement that it was even-handed, respecting neither person nor condition, a great leveller, equalizing all before the law.

Champion of Natives.

They saw Mr. Taft understanding them better than they had understood themselves, comprehending their problems more wisely than their own leaders had done, and standing all the time like a rock solidly for their interests. They saw him opposed by almost all his countrymen in their islands, denounced and assailed with the utmost vehemence and venom by Americans simply because he steadfastly resisted American exploitation and persisted in his declaration that the Philippines should be for the Filipinos. They saw him laboring day and night in their behalf and facing death itself with cheerful resignation in order to carry out their cause. It was a revelation to them. It was something beyond their previous knowledge of all their experience, their education and their tradition. It convinced them.

Revelation to the Filipinos.

Mr. Taft gave them concrete example of disinterestedness and good faith which they could not fail to comprehend. He gave them schools and the opportunity of education, one of the dearest wishes of the whole people. No man who was not in the Philippines in the early days of the American occupation will ever understand thoroughly with what pitiful eagerness the Filipino people desired to learn. Men, women and children, white haired grandfathers and grandmothers craved above everything the opportunity to go to school and receive instruction in the simplest rudiments. It is difficult to tell how deeply that eager desire touched Mr. Taft and how earnestly he responded to it.

Gave People Homes.

But education was only a beginning. Mr. Taft gave the Filipinos the opportunity to own their own homes. It was another concrete example of simple justice. When they saw him negotiating for the better lands, and at a great expense to the American government, securing for the Filipinos the right to buy those lands on easy terms, it went home to the dearest among them that he was working unselfishly in their behalf.

And they saw his justice in their courts. For the first time in all their experience the poorest and humblest Filipino found himself able to secure an even-handed, honest decision, without purchase and without influence.

Kept All Promises.

Even that was not all. They saw Mr. Taft literally and faithfully keeping his promise and calling Filipinos to share in their own government, not merely in the subordinate and lowly places which they had been able to purchase from their old masters, but in the highest and most responsible posts. They saw men of their race called to membership in the commission, in the supreme court, and in all the other branches of their government. And they believed the promise of even wider experience of self-government to come.

Unparalleled Achievement.

It was a practical demonstration of honesty and good faith such as the Filipinos had never known. It was a showing of sympathy, justice and comprehension which could not be resisted. Conviction followed inevitably. The whole people knew—because they saw—that the Filipinos were to be maintained for the Philippines, and they recognized their own unwelcome but full responsibility of independent self-government, and cheerfully set themselves to the task of preparation.

High Honors Declined.

This is the achievement of Mr. Taft in the Philippines. It has scarcely a parallel in history. What it cost him he paid without question or complaint. He had given up his judicial career when he went to Manila. But three times in the course of his service for the Philippines the opportunity to re-enter it came to him, each time with an offer of a place on the supreme court which had been his life-long goal. Each time he refused it. Not even President Roosevelt understood the call to Mr. Taft from the Philippines, and when he offered a supreme court justiceship to Mr. Taft he accompanied it with almost a command. But Mr. Taft declined. He saw clearly his duty lay to the people whom he had led to believe in him as the personification of American justice and good faith, and he made the President see it too.

Begged Him to Stay.

How the Filipinos felt was shown when on hearing of the danger that Mr. Taft might be called away from Manila, they flocked in thousands about his residence and begged him not to go. When ultimately he did leave the islands it was only to come home as Secretary of War, in which office he could continue his direction of Philippine affairs and make sure that there should be no deviation from the successful line of policy he had marked out.

The Birth of a Nation.

What is the result? The birth of a nation. The great, powerful American people, through the compelling agency of Mr. Taft, has paid a heavy price in its triumph, but it has slightly, to stoop down and lift up a feeble, ignorant and helpless people and set it on the broad highway to liberty. Vaguely, uncertainly, not comprehending clearly just what it was doing, not understanding always fully either the object or the means of accomplishment, but its heart right, and submitting confidently to the leadership of a man in whom it trusted implicitly, this nation has assisted in a new birth of nations, has freed and oppressed people. To William Howard Taft belongs the lion's share of the credit. Not often is it given to one man to do such work for humanity. Seldom is such altruism as his displayed. Many other heroes have come to him; many others will yet come. Among them all none will yet be of greater significance or more lasting value than his work for the Philippines.

Secretary of War.

It is not important here to discuss in detail Mr. Taft's administration of the War Department since he succeeded Elihu Root as Secretary of War on February 1, 1904. He has been at the head of it during the years of its greatest range of activity. He is not merely Secretary of the Army, as almost all his predecessors were. He is Secretary of the Country. Under his direction fall matters of the utmost importance affecting every one of the over-sea possessions of the United States. The affairs of the army alone have often proved sufficient to occupy the whole attention of an able Secretary.

Activity at Panama.

Mr. Taft has had to handle not only those and the Philippine and Cuban business, but to direct the construction of the Panama Canal as well. And at not infrequent intervals he has been called on to participate in the direction of other weighty affairs of government. He has been the general adviser of President Roosevelt and has been called into consultation on every important matter which has required governmental action.

The administration of canal affairs has required in a high degree that quality described as executive ability. The building of a canal is a tremendous enterprise, calling constantly for the exercise of sound business judgment. In it Mr. Taft has displayed in ripened proportions the abilities he has shown since he took office as collector of internal revenue. When Mr. Taft became Secretary of War this country has just taken possession of the canal zone, under treaty with the republic of Panama, and of the old canal property, including the Panama railroad, by purchase from the French company. The work was all to be done in a hurry, and the canal zone began to fly at once. The newspapers and periodicals were full of cartoons representing Uncle Sam in long boots with a spade on his shoulder, striding down to the isthmus to begin digging. But before there could be any real excavation there was a tremendous task to meet. First of all the isthmus must be changed from a disease breeding pest-hole to a place where Americans could live and work in safety. The canal zone must be cleaned up, mosquitoes stamped out and the place made sweet and healthy. Installations must be constructed for many thousands of workmen and their families.

Made Cities Sanitary.

The cities of Panama and Colon, at the terminal of the canal, must be made thoroughly sanitary and supplied with water and sewers. An organization for the work of canal construction must be perfected and millions of dollars worth of machinery and supplies must be purchased and transported to the isthmus.

All these things, however, were of a purely business character. It required only time and ability to handle properly. But there was another matter to be taken care of before these could be undertaken, and it was of a decidedly different nature. The Hay-Varela treaty with Panama had secured to the United States all the rights necessary for complete control of the canal zone, and it became of the utmost importance to build up friendly relations with the people of the isthmus republic. It would certainly greatly increase the ordinary difficulties of building the canal if our people had to encounter the hostilities of the Panamanians.

Solves Large Problems.

Here was a problem largely similar to that met by Mr. Taft in the Philippines, and calling for the exercise of the same qualities of tact, sympathy, justice and patience which he had exhibited in the Far East. It became his duty to convince the Panamanian people and government that the United States had not gone to the isthmus to build a rival state instead of a canal. As head of the War Department, and the superior of the Canal Commission, he has conducted all the affairs of this government with the republic of Panama since the ratification of the original treaty, and has succeeded in keeping our relations with the isthmus uniformly pleasant. Always, at least once a year, he has made a trip to the canal zone and in all affairs there with his own eyes. He has just returned from the isthmus, the President having sent him there to settle a number of questions which required his personal consideration on the ground. Perhaps his conception of his responsibilities on the isthmus may be had from the fact that since the actual work of canal building began there has been spent on it upward of $80,000,000, and every dollar of that expenditure required and received his approval.

HELD UP BY A DARING BANDIT

Young Woman Declares That While Horseback Riding She Was the Victim of a Bold Highwayman.

Miss Alice B. Schwab of 1069 Twelfth street was held up by a bold highwayman on the Webster street roadway in Alameda Wednesday night about 8 o'clock. The robber took a diamond pin from Miss Schwab and then allowed her to go on her way. The young woman states that prior to taking the horseback ride to Alameda she left two diamond rings with her mother for safe keeping.

Gave Up Valuables.

As Miss Schwab was riding across the Webster street roadway near the old power house she was approached by a man who was riding a bicycle. He stopped and ordered the young woman to dismount. Miss Schwab refused to obey the demand and tried to ride away but her horse reared and she fell.

Struck by Car and Fatally Hurt

The highwayman then ordered her to hand him her valuables. She gave him a diamond pin and a watch and was then allowed to go. The robber ordered her to get up and ride away. The Alameda police have received several reports of a highwayman who rides about on a bicycle and detains steps and being taken to capture him.

STRUCK BY CAR AND FATALLY HURT

Italian Laborer's Skull Fractured When He Is Run Down by Trolley Vehicle.

(Special to the Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Pietro Cilli, an Italian laborer, was fatally injured at Mission and Pacific avenue last evening by being run down by a trolley car. Cilli was in front of the car when it hit him, and he was thrown to the sidewalk. He was picked up and taken to St. Luke's hospital, where it was found he had sustained a fractured skull and little hope is held out for his recovery.

HIT BY AN AUTOMOBILE AND SERIOUSLY HURT

William Malone May Die of Injuries Received When Run Down on Street.

William Malone, a carpenter sixty-three years of age residing at 15th and Franklin street, was run down by an automobile last night at Twelfth street and Broadway and received injuries that may prove fatal. A G. Willmott, chauffeur of the machine, says the aged man who was intoxicated staggered in front of the auto before it could be stopped. Malone's injuries consisted of three fractured ribs on the left side of his back and a severe shock. This morning he was moved to the county infirmary. Dr. Rix who attended the man said today that the shock was a severe one in view of the fact that Malone was intoxicated at the time.

RUSHING WORK ON BAY FARM ISLAND ROAD

ALAMEDA, June 19.—Mayor E. K. Taylor is pushing active construction of the important road which when completed will run from Bay Farm Island to the north shore beach of San Francisco Bay along the beach to the limits of Alameda. The city expects that when it has done its share of the work the county will build the rest of the road connecting it with the San Jose road. The Bay Farm Island road will cut the distance almost four miles from either San Francisco or Oakland Berkeley or Alameda to San Jose.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

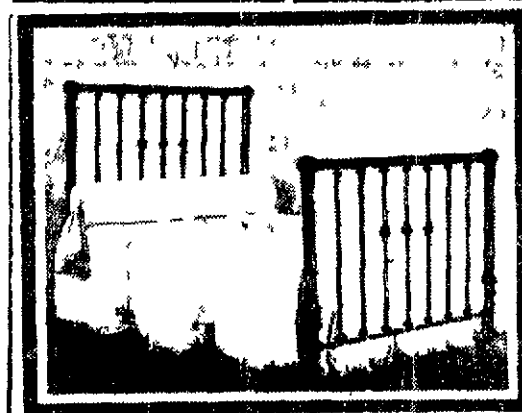

Banjo Artist at the Bell Theater

Hale and Corbin who are delighting the crowds at the Bell this week are surely top-notchers in their manipulation of this favorite musical instrument. They are past masters at the art of pleasing and their ability to get more music out of these tiny instruments than the majority of professionals is conceded by all who hear them. Their plaintive Southern melodies carry one back to the good old South and Dixie and the appreciation of their performance is shown by the voracious applause that greets them. This act is only one of the many that is shown at the Bell this week. Harrigan the Tramp Juggler, The Gr. at Wilson, trick cyclist, and the Doric Quartet, a sweet singing male quartet are keeping up the reputation of this popular San Pablo avenue playhouse for high-class vaudeville.

over increasing crashing of a marching band outside threatened to drown the invocation for a time, but the music stopped before the Rabbi had proceeded very far.

New Yorkers Sing.

The New Yorkers, realizing that this was the Sherman demonstration which they had arranged, broke into cheers and attempted to break into song but the result of this last effort was not exactly all that could be desired in point of melody although it abounded in energy.

A huge picture of Sherman was carried aloft and was greeted with tumultuous cheers.

When the Sherman parade had finished their march it was announced that there would be a meeting of the national committee after adjournment. The motion to limit nominating speeches, the chair announced, had been unanimously carried.

Call of the Roll.

The call of the roll for nominations then was in order and there was no response until Delaware was reached when Senator Dupont arose and declared:

This was the beginning of the Sherman wave and there was an outburst of cheering led by the New York delegation.

Chairman Lodge, at the conclusion of the prayer, stated that he desired to make a formal announcement which had been overlooked in the rush of the closing hours of yesterday.

Announces Taft Nomination.

"It is my pleasure to announce to you that you have nominated for the Presidency for the term beginning March 4, 1909, the Honorable William Howard Taft, of Ohio."

The announcement was greeted with cheering, soon interrupted, however, by a delegate from Michigan, who offered a resolution providing that all nominating and seconding speeches for vice-presidential candidates be limited to 10 minutes. This was carried with a roar and the yell broke into a cheer as the first notes of "Marching Through Georgia" were heard from an approaching band.

Timothy L. Woodruff had been chosen to make the Sherman nominating speech and was met with another vigorous outburst from New York as he was introduced to the convention by Senator Lodge.

The point made by Woodruff that no Republican ticket had ever been defeated when a New York man was on it except once and that was when the "opposing party" was bright enough to put a New York man at the head of their ticket, evoked much laughter and applause.

On behalf of a united delegation of the pivotal state of the Union, for as New York goes so goes the nation, I present to you the name of Congressman James E. Sherman."

Seconded by Cannon.

It was thus Mr. Woodruff concluded, and Speaker Cannon arose to make his way to the platform to second the nomination.

Mr. Cannon was given what was really one of the most enthusiastic receptions accorded to any man during the convention. He repeatedly waved his hand to the convention, mentioning them to resume their seats, but it was several minutes before he was able to commence his speech.

"I would rather be a doorknocker in the House of the Lord than to dwell in the tents of wickedness," he yelled in cheers and laughter greeted the remark.

Tribute to Taft.

Mr. Cannon then declared the platform adopted by the convention was true to the hopes, aspirations and principles of the country. Next he paid a tribute to Secretary Taft as the nominee of the party, saying of him that he was a broad, cultured, judicial-minded executive official who had answered every draft made upon him with unflinching zeal and fidelity to the public good.

"I say without mental reservation," said Speaker Cannon, "that William Taft is my candidate." And again he was compelled to pause until the yell of delight from the delegates had died away.

Eulogy of Sherman.

He then entered upon an earnest eulogium of Mr. Sherman, sketching his services to the country as a whole and describing him as a man eminently qualified as Vice-President.

The Middle West stands first in the population, first in agriculture, first in manufactures and first in mineral wealth, has the first place upon the ticket, and now the great Empire State honors its part in the nomination of the Vice-President by the name of James E. Sherman for the Vice-Presidency.

"If ever the contingency should arise, which God forbid, that he shall supplant the President, he is no man whom I would trust to fill all the duties of that office than James E. Sherman."

The closing of this address was eminently characteristic of Speaker Cannon. He predicted a glorious triumph for Taft and Sherman and then, waving both arms at the delegates he snapped out "Good bye" and strode to the rear, followed by a roar of laughter and applause.

Governor Wilson of Kentucky was recognized in his place on the floor.

"On behalf of Kentucky," he said "I want to second the nomination of Mr. Sherman. With him on the ticket we are bound to win. The knocking is all over now and we are solid and united."

Chairman Lodge, as Governor Wilson put down said:

"The clerk will continue the call of the roll," and then surrendered the chair to Franklin A. Denison of Illinois, who was not a delegate; or alternate to the convention.

"The gentleman from Massachusetts," said the temporary chairman, bowing to the permanent chairman in recognition when Massachusetts was reached.

Lodge Nominates Guild.

Senator Lodge presented the name of Curtis Guild of Massachusetts as a candidate.

the nominating of Mr. Sherman.

Nomination of Murphy.

New Jersey sent to the platform Thos. N. McCarter to place in nomination Governor Franklin Murphy of that state. New Jersey joyfully cheered the name of Governor Murphy.

Oaklahoma for Sherman.

Ohio was passed over without response and then Dennis Flynn of Oklahoma added the second of that state to the fast growing Sherman candidacy. He spoke from his place on the floor.

Pennsylvania's second of Mr. Sherman called out great cheering from the New York delegation, as they regard this conclusive proof of victory for their candidate. Representative Olmstead of Pennsylvania made the speech for that state.

Fall in Line.

When Tennessee was reached another second was given to Sherman by T. Clay Evans and C. B. Slemp of Virginia put his state in line for the New York man with a simple statement that the state was for him.

The call proceeded and was completed when a number of Louisiana delegates pressed forward to the front of the speaker's platform asking that their State be called and allow Guy W. Warrmouth to deliver a seconding speech, but the chairman refused to allow this, saying:

The Roll is Called.

"The clerk will call the roll."

"Alabama" casts one vote for Guild,

2 for Murphy and 13 for Sherman."

"Arkansas" gave her solid vote for Sherman as did California and Georgia. Illinois gave Sherman 51 out of 54 votes.

The Sherman tide continued steadily to rise and when Louisiana had cast her solid vote heavily in favor of the New York candidate there no longer was any doubt.

Maine gave three to Guild and the remainder of her votes for Sherman.

Massachusetts went solid for her man, but the tide of Sherman votes increased steadily along until Montana split, giving four to Guild.

Compliments to Candidates.

Ohio, realizing that the contest was settled, divided her vote to compliment all the candidates, giving ten to Murphy, ten to Guild and twenty-six to Sherman.

When New York was called Timothy Woodruff arose and said:

"New York casts her 78 votes for the next Vice-President of the United States, James E. Sherman."

The issue was settled and New York cheered the victory.

The balloting throughout was marked by great enthusiasm.

The vote for Sherman was not broken until West Virginia was reached when Fairbanks was given one vote.

Wisconsin split her vote among Sherman, Guild and Murphy and also gave ten to Sheldon of Nebraska.

Sherman Gets Prize.

All the territories cast their votes for Sherman and the result of the balloting was announced by Chairman Lodge to be: Sherman, 10; Guild, 75; Murphy, 57; Sheldon, 10; Fairbanks, 1; absent, 1.

The big picture of Sherman was upraised instantly the result was announced and for several minutes the convention was in an uproar. The cheer leader, with a flag and a megaphone, rushed to the platform. He had made quite a reputation at the convention four years ago, but today Chairman Lodge grabbed the young man by the scruff of the neck and sent him whirling back to his place.

Made Unanimous.

"Shall the nomination be made unanimous?" said Chairman Lodge, and he recognized Senator Crane of Massachusetts, who made a motion in accordance with the chairman's question in behalf of Governor Guild. New Jersey and Nebraska quickly trailed on and when the motion was put it was carried with a shout of approval.

Chairman Lodge, of New Hampshire, offered the usual resolution to appoint the permanent chairman, Senator Lodge, as chairman of the convention, to notify the presidential nominee and that Temporary Chairman Fairbanks be appointed to head the committee to notify the vice-presidential nominee.

Chairman Lodge, who is going abroad during the summer, requested that Senator William Wagner of Montana, paid commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., be substituted in his place. The resolution was unanimously adopted with this amendment.

Convention Adjourns.

The usual motion of acknowledgement resolutions to the officers of the convention and the city in which it was held were passed.

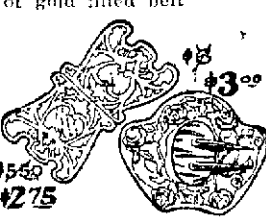

Julius W. Lyon of Georgia was recognized to make the motion to adjourn without day. It was put in effect at 11:47 a. m. The band played "The Star Spangled Banner," the delegates rapidly left the hall and the convention of 1908 had made its way into history.

TO PROVIDE FOR TEMPERANCE MOVE

Joint Commission is Suggested for Carrying on Organized Work

SARATOGA N. Y. June 10.—Delegates attending the World's Temperance convention today unveiled a monument to mark the spot where the world's first temperance society was first founded by Dr. Billy Clark 100 years ago.

Resolutions offered by Rev. Dr. William Crafts of Washington provided for a movement throughout the United States for the church and temperance organizations to mark the activities of the saloons. The resolutions call for a joint session from each national organization to make the crusade.

Dr. Crafts suggested President Dore of the National Temperance Society as president of the joint commission. All national societies devoted to temperance work were invited to hold their annual meetings in 1909 in Washington during the first week of December.

 At the suggestion of a number of enthusiastic fishermen Mayor Merritt has ordered that the Lake Merritt flood gates be opened for a time next Monday to allow bass to enter the lake. The mayor believes that within a short time the lake will be one of the best fishing grounds in this part of the city.

Taft's Nomination Gives General Satisfaction

BERLIN June 10.—The nomination of William Howard Taft for the Presidency is published in brief form in the Berlin papers this morning. The news came too late, however, for editorial comment. Emperor William had been fully informed through the German Embassy at Washington of Mr. Taft's personality and the likelihood of his nomination.

The news was commented on pleasantly in official quarters this morning. From the German point of view Secretary Taft is regarded as a suitable statesman to carry out the construction of the Panama canal, the Philippine naval base, the Eastern trade and the other foreign policies of the present administration. International controversies are less known and get less attention in Germany.

Parisian Press Comment
 PARIS June 10.—The nomination of Secretary of War Taft for the Presidency has been regarded by the French press as a foregone conclusion and comment on the result at Chicago is slow in making its appearance.

The French Republic considers Mr. Taft's nomination as a victory for the spirit of imperialism.

The great democracy, the paper says, after avoiding this spirit for so long.

LOSES WIFE FOR LOVE OF BOOKS

SAN FRANCISCO June 10.—Because he loved his books more than his wife and thought more of his privacy than of his wife's friends, Arthur L. Young, president of the Young-Casselman Dry Goods Company, was divorced yesterday by Marion C. Young.

 Mr. Young's complaint against her husband was that he would sit in all her rooms and read his books and would not talk to her at meals.

Presidency was received too late for editorial comment in the morning papers except the Times which says:

It is the greatest and most striking of all Roosevelt's many victories. By the unflinching exertion of his personal will, President Roosevelt defeated the undoubted will of the Republican party and what is hardly less certain the will of the American people. He has chosen to sacrifice his personal ambition in his sense of duty as a citizen. It is a noble act of self-abnegation worthy of the first Magistrate of the people bred in respect for the law and in veneration for its spirit.

NEW YORK June 10.—The mimic war, which cost the life of one member of the army of New York's defense, and injured two others, was being practiced at the New York National Guard camp at Fort Wadsworth on the Staten Island side of the Narrows. Last night when the hostile fleet came up the river bay on fire, the watchmen at the forts discovered them and hotly engaged them.

CRIPPLED LAD IS DANGEROUSLY HURT

While Racing on Bicycle Frank Silva Falls and Skull is Fractured.

After peddling with his one leg around the Emeryville race track for seven miles last night young Frank Silva of 218 Hanna street fell from his bicycle and sustained what doctors say is a probable fracture of the skull. He is in a semi-conscious condition on a cot at the Receiving Hospital under the care of a nurse. If the skull is fractured Silva will have a struggle for his life.

Dr. Rice who was called last night when the youth was brought in by the police says Silva is a strong boy and with careful attention will pull through his injury and in a few weeks be out of the hospital. Silva and several other young fellows living near the race track have been making a practice of racing around the oval in several mile heats. Although Silva has but one leg, he has been setting a lively pace for the other riders. When his fall occurred, he was far in the lead. His friends rushed to his aid and summoned the police ambulance to try to the instructions of the court and that a number of errors were made in the rulings by Judge Harris.

William Howard Taft.

The nomination of William H. Taft as the Republican standard bearer was accomplished yesterday in a manner so impressive as to remove any lingering doubt as to his election. It was expected that he would be nominated, but it was not certain that the process would be such an entire success from a campaign point of view. The vote for him was but two out of the way of the forecast, and those things that were somewhat feared as potent for inharmony were amicably arranged. The candidate enters the campaign without a hamper of any kind.

The career and fitness of the nominee for the most exalted office in the world have been thoroughly discussed and are generally understood. His public achievements are so recent and striking that research is not necessary to familiarize oneself with them. They form a part of the current history of the country.

The life of William Howard Taft is an open book. Starting as a newspaper reporter, after graduating from a famous university and having studied law and been admitted to the bar, he certainly began at a point where he came in touch with many enlightening phases of life. His pay at the outset was $6 a week.

From this he worked his way through official attorneyships to the State bench. But his talents and the pressing demand for the able man who is also honest did not permit him to remain there long. He resigned to practice law, but was drafted by President Harrison to represent the government in the fisheries dispute with Canada and England, which had worried all three countries for twelve years. He conducted the arbitration to an issue advantageous to the American contention.

Then he was appointed a Federal Judge, and sat in important cases, in which his fearlessness and fairness was clearly manifest. When the lamented President McKinley was perplexed in his search for a man to take charge of the Philippine situation, with its new and intricate problems, Taft was suggested as the man for the place. He was then on the Federal bench. Being called to Washington, the position was offered him. Prefacing his answer with the statement that he had been opposed to the retention of the Philippine Islands, he accepted the trust, resigned from the bench and set himself about the new and arduous duties with his customary intensity. How he acquitted himself in the Philippines; how he resolved order out of chaos in Cuba; how he quieted the Japanese irritation, and how he performed other delicate duties of diplomacy, is recent and general history.

Taft entered upon the broader stage of public life but eight years ago, and then not on his own motion. The qualities of creative and administrative statesmanship that he has evinced in this brief career warrant the conclusion that he approaches the Presidency with a surer knowledge of its requirements and greater experience in statecraft than any of his predecessors.

Taft is 51 years of age, in perfect health, of quick comprehension, true sympathies and an enormous capacity for work. Though not cradled in poverty, neither was he pampered in his youth. He had to make his way, and the conditions were such that he was not warped one way or the other in his early life. His development was on normal lines. He is a splendid example of the American citizen springing from the great middle class. He has demonstrated the possession of plenty of physical courage, though like all truly courageous men he gets in few controversies. His moral courage is oftener disclosed. He is a great, level-headed man, bent on performing the duties that he finds at hand, and without self seeking or obtrusiveness. He is a poor man, being as indifferent to money-getting as he is to fame. This trait finds a corresponding one in Roosevelt, but a comparison is rather to the advantage of Taft, as he has not inherited wealth, and the financial problems of life that never vexed the President are ever with him.

In any and every respect William H. Taft is an admirable character, whose soundness and fitness for the Presidency will be acknowledged in ever increasing force as the campaign waxes.

And there can be no doubt in the mind of any man, capable of reading the signs and willing to do, as to his triumphant election.

The Republican convention this morning assigned a running mate to William Howard Taft, the head of the ticket, in the person of James Schoolcraft Sherman of New York. It was an expected outcome. He is two years the senior of Taft, a graduate of Hamilton College; has officiated as Mayor of Utica, where he was born, and has been a member of the last ten Congresses, covering a continuous period of twenty years. His nomination secures for the second place on the ticket a man of capacity, of affairs and of experience, and who is geographically available. His record is all in his favor, and Taft and Sherman at the head of the ticket will be invincible.

The Republican Platform.

The American people being reassured through the triumphant nomination of William H. Taft for the Presidency by the Republican party, must be further gratified with the platform on which he is to make his campaign. It is sound and patriotic, touching the things that are to the fore and pledging a continuance of those policies that are under way and have met with such enthusiastic approval.

The anti-injunction plank is a conservative declaration of intent to hold Federal Courts to a closer limit of power in summary interferences, which should not be objectionable to any interest or class.

The tariff plank is a declaration that the present tariff is not necessarily to be the law for all time. Wise and careful revision are held to be desirable.

The necessity of a more elastic currency is declared, with which there is small dissent anywhere.

It is reiterated that the trusts must give in to the Federal government, a proposition that President Roosevelt has pretty well vindicated already.

While approval of railroad control is unabated, it is recommended that the laws and construction of vested authority be relaxed, that the end aimed at may not be defeated by the application of the remedy.

More attention is to be paid to inland waterways, and the necessity of constructing more and better public roads is recognized. Equal justice for all men, without regard to race or color, is declared for. The army and navy are not expected to provoke war but their maintenance on a competent footing is likely to prevent it. International arbitration is approved, civil service is commended, encouragement of the American merchant marine advised, the ballot recommended for Porto Ricans, and the celebration in 1909 of the centennial anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln is desired.

At the outset the administration of President Roosevelt is enthusiastically endorsed, and at the end party comparison is indulged in. Attention is called to the fact that the difference between Democracy and Republicanism is that one stands for vacillation and timidity in government, and the other for strength and purpose. "Democracy would have the nation own the people, while Republicanism would have the people own the nation."

The declaration of principles is well rounded out, and must appeal to the citizen who reads and wants to understand.

CONGRATULATIONS POUR IN ON TAFT

War Secretary Will Leave Today for Cincinnati

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Secretary Taft was a little late taking up the business of the day.

The principal lower rooms of the K street residence of the Secretary were still filled with magnificent bunches of cut flowers and notes of congratulation were piled on a sideboard. One that came over night was of particular interest to the Secretary. It was as follows:

From La Follette.

"Madison, Wis., June 19. — Hon. William H. Taft, Washington D. C. — While the platform is disappointing in some fundamental provisions and omissions, I shall claim the right to say so, I congratulate you most sincerely and in good faith that you are more nearly in accord with the great body of Republican voters than the platform. I shall do all in my power to insure your election. (Signed) "Robert M. La Follette."

Mrs. Taft Reads Papers.

The fatigue and excitement of last night apparently made little impression on Mrs. Taft and other members of the Secretary's family and even before the usual breakfast hour all of them were down stairs and deeply engrossed in the morning newspapers, everyone of which displayed more or less pleasing likenesses of the Secretary on the first page.

A sign of a change that has taken place in the official status of Secretary Taft was the appearance of a blue-coated policeman, who took station at the curb directly in front of the Taft residence where he or one of his mates will remain constantly on duty day and night whenever Secretary Taft is in Washington.

The First Caller.

When the Secretary descended from his bedroom this morning and entered the drawing room he found the first caller in the person of Lieutenant General Henry C. Corbin, who is a warm personal friend. He extended his congratulations and they were gratefully received.

Off to Cincinnati.

A telegram received overnight from a member of his family in the west determined Secretary Taft to leave Washington this afternoon for Cincinnati. He expects to take the 8 o'clock train and stopping in Cincinnati tomorrow will leave that city in time to reach New Haven Monday to participate in the reunion of his class of '88. Secretary Taft reached the White House at 10:20 o'clock and at once went into the executive office and conferred with President Roosevelt.

HER BEAUTY IS MARRIED FOR LIFE

Come! Young Woman Hurled From Automobile and Her Face Terribly Disfigured and Her Nose Broken.

Grace Young, a comely young woman of nineteen years, who resides at 715 Ninth street, sustained injuries in an automobile accident in East Oakland early this morning that will leave her face badly scarred and disfigured for the remainder of her life.

According to the story she told at the Receiving hospital at 5:30 o'clock this morning, she was out with a party of friends when a mishap occurred as the machine was coming through East Oakland after a speedy run in from the San Leandro road and its occupants thrown to the curb.

Other members of the party were only slightly scratched while Miss Young was thrown violently on the curbstone. The fleshy part of her left cheek was badly torn and cut and the curbing broke the bones of her nose, literally grinding the bones and flesh into a pulp. Dr. Reine, who treated her at the Receiving hospital, says that he does not think the young woman's eyesight will be injured but the scars will remain with her through life.

Night of Gaiety. Walter Brown, a young sailor off one of Uncle Sam's warships, appeared at the hospital with the woman this morning. He told Warden Page that Miss Young, in company with her chum, and another sailor and himself were out seeing the sights in an automobile during the early evening and until about midnight last night. At 1 o'clock this morning Brown says he and his friend left the woman at Tenth and Broadway, after having had supper.

IT IS A DIRTY FARCE WITH HENEY IN THE FOREGROUND

Some three years ago, more or less, Binger Hermann was indicted by an Oregon grand jury, on accusation of complicity in land frauds. The country has been waiting for the prosecution. A continuous stream of insinuation has come out of the detective and other official service to the effect that there was "hot stuff" about Hermann. The newspapers have been supplied with it, in Oregon, at Washington, and more or less throughout the country. But Hermann has not been brought to trial. Is there, in reality, any proof against him? Or is this an industrious proceeding, on the part of detective and prosecuting attorneys, to make it appear that they have been earning their money?

The same about Senator Fulton. There has been an infinite amount of talk against him, in official circles. Henev made long speeches against him. Officials of the Department of Justice, here and at Washington, have been giving out whispers for years that "they had the dope on Fulton"; that he was subject to indictment, and that terrible things were to be told and revealed. But they never do anything but utter cowardly and malicious insinuations, telling the people through the newspapers that awful revelations are coming. "We can't tell much now, but there be those that could tell us (they would; just wait.)"

The Oregonian thinks that both Mr. Hermann and Mr. Fulton have waited long enough and that the public has waited long enough. We now believe that Mr. Hermann never will be brought to trial, and that no distinct charges ever will be formulated against Mr. Fulton. This dirty and

The declaration of principles is well rounded out, and must appeal to the citizen who reads and wants to understand.

CONGRATULATIONS
POUR IN ON TAFT

War Secretary Will Leave Today for Cincinnati

WASHINGTON, June 19.—Secretary Taft was a little late taking up the business of the day.

The principal lower rooms of the K street residence of the Secretary were still filled with magnificent bunches of cut flowers and notes of congratulation were piled on a sideboard. One that came over night was of particular interest to the Secretary. It was as follows:

From La Follette.

"Madison, Wis., June 19.—Hon. William H. Taft, Washington D. C.:—While the platform is disappointing in some fundamental provisions and omissions, I shall claim the right to say so, I congratulate you most sincerely and in good faith that you are more nearly in accord with the great body of Republican voters than the platform. I shall do all in my power to insure your election. (Signed) 'Robert M. La Follette'."

Mrs. Taft Reads Papers.

The fatigue and excitement of last night apparently made little impression on Mrs. Taft and other members of the Secretary's family and even before the usual breakfast hour all of them were down stairs and deeply engrossed in the morning newspapers, everyone of which displayed more or less pleasing likenesses of the Secretary on the first page.

A sign of a change that has taken place in the official status of Secretary Taft was the appearance of a blue coated policeman, who took station at the curb directly in front of the Taft residence where he or one of his mates will remain constantly on duty day and night whenever Secretary Taft is in Washington.

The First Caller.

When the Secretary descended from his bedroom this morning and entered the drawing room he found the first caller in the person of Lieutenant General Henry C. Corbin, who is a warm personal friend. He extended his congratulations and they were gratefully received.

Off to Cincinnati.

A telegram received overnight from a member of his family in the west determined Secretary Taft to leave Washington this afternoon for Cincinnati. He expects to take the 3 o'clock train and stopping in Cincinnati tomorrow will leave that city in time to reach New Haven Monday to participate in the reunion of his class of '88.

Secretary Taft reached the White House at 10:20 o'clock and at once went into the executive office and conferred with President Roosevelt.

HER BEAUTY
IS MARRIED
FOR LIFEComely Young Woman Hurled
From Automobile and Her Face Terribly Disfigured and Her Nose Broken.

Grace Young, a comely young woman of nineteen years, who resides at 718 Ninth street, sustained injuries in an automobile accident in East Oakland early this morning that will leave her face badly scarred and disfigured for the remainder of her life.

According to the story she told at the Receiving hospital at 5:30 o'clock this morning, she was out with a party of friends when a mishap occurred as the machine was coming through East Oakland after a speedy run in from the San Leandro road and its occupants thrown to the curb.

Other members of the party were only slightly scratched while Miss Young was thrown violently on the curbstone. The fleshy part of her left cheek was badly torn and cut and the curling broke the bones of her nose literally grinding the bones and flesh into a pulp. Dr. Reine, who treated her at the Receiving hospital, says that he does not think the young woman's eyesight will be injured, but the scars will remain with her through life.

Night of Gaiety.

Walter Brown, a young sailor off one of Uncle Sam's warships, appeared at the hospital with the woman this morning. He told Warden Page that Miss Young, in company with her client and father, sailor and himself, were out seeing the sights in an automobile during the early evening and until about midnight last night. At 1 o'clock this morning Brown says he and his friend left the woman at Tenth and Broadway, after having had supper.

At 5 o'clock this morning Brown declares he was awakened by Miss Young's scream who said the girl had been injured in an automobile accident. Brown dressed and found the girl outside, where her more recent friends had deserted her. He hurried her to the hospital where she was cared for.

Some three years ago, more or less, Hinger Hermann was indicted by an Oregon grand jury, on accusation of complicity in land frauds. The country has been waiting for the proofs. A continuous stream of insinuation has come out of the detective and other official service to the effect that there was "hot stuff" about Hermann. The newspapers have been supplied with it, in Oregon, at Washington, and more or less throughout the country. But Hermann has not been brought to trial. Is there, in reality, any proof against him? Or is this an industrious proceeding, on the part of detective and prosecuting attorneys, to make it appear that they have been earning their money?

The same about Senator Fulton. There has been an infinite amount of talk against him, in official circles. Henev made long speeches against him. Officials of the Department of Justice, here and at Washington, have been giving out whispers for years that "they had the dope on Fulton", that he was subject to indictment, and that terrible things were to be told and revealed. But they never do anything but utter cowardly and malicious insinuations, telling the people through the newspapers that awful revelations are coming. "We can't tell much now, but there be those that could tell us they would; just wait."

The Oregonian thinks that both Hermann and Mr. Fulton have waited long enough, and that the public is waited long enough. We now believe that Mr. Hermann never will be brought to trial, and that no distinct charges ever will be formulated against Mr. Fulton. This dirty and

LOVERS' GOODBYES CAUSE FIRE LOSS

Conflagration Destroys Property While Sweethearts Frattle Affectionate Nothings.

FRESNO, June 19.—Because a man wanted to bid his sweetheart good-bye over the telephone this morning, he refused to permit J. H. Bailey to send in the alarm of fire for the Eagle Packing & Storage Company's plant and as a consequence more than $30,000 worth of goods before the engines could reach the fire.

Bailey was the first to see the fire. Running to the telephone he found it busy. A couple of lovers were saying farewell.

"There is a fire and I want the fire department please," said Bailey.

"Get off the line," answered the man. After five minutes the pair finished talking, but the fire was beyond control.

SMUGGLER TAKEN WITH DIAMONDS

Admits Crime when Captured by Detectives with 37 Uncut Gems.

NEW YORK, June 19.—As a result of an investigation into the alleged smuggling of diamonds on the steamer plyer between this port and Antwerp, David Stocker, a second cabin steward on the steamer Zealand, was arrested yesterday before United States Commissioner Shields charged with smuggling.

Special Treasury Agents E. H. Horne and William E. Williams and J. P. Toole, who arrested Stocker, declared they followed the steward from the Red Star Line steamer at the foot of Fulton street to a jewelry store in Maiden lane. There they found him bargaining for the sale of thirty-seven diamonds of different sizes. They arrested Stocker seizing the diamonds. Stocker admitted having brought the diamonds into the country without the payment of duty. He admitted that it was his first offense and, waiving examination, was held in $2,000 for federal and jury.

HOW IS YOUR STOMACH?

Easy Way to Strengthen It and Get Well.

A good digestive system, one that acts so that you do not know that you have a stomach is God's birthright to every man—to every woman.

If digestion is weak, if food turns into gas, if you suffer after eating, if you are sleepless, nervous and out of sorts—then the stomach is diseased and prompt action should be taken.

W. A. Luns, a well-known builder in Syracuse, tells an easy way to strengthen the stomach and get well when he writes: "Mio-na Stomach Tablets have done more for me in one week than all the doctors in two years. I was under their care. Thanks to Mio-na, I can work once more the first time in over a year."

It is an easy thing to strengthen the stomach and cure indigestion by using Mio-na. Get a 50-cent box from leading druggists with their guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy does all that is claimed for it.

Where Woman Reigns

Romance of Love Ends in Tragedy

BERLIN.—A romantic love story ended in a terrible tragedy at Lichterfeld, a suburb of Baden-Wuerttemberg, yesterday.

Some time ago Major Bauer, a retired army officer, received a letter from his son, who was undergoing his military service at Freiburg, that he had fallen in love with the beautiful daughter of a railway employee, and that he intended to marry her.

The father wrote indignant letters threatening to cut him off without a penny if he should make such a marriage, but the young man's decision could not be shaken, and he obtained leave to go home to his father.

A stormy scene took place between the two, the young man declaring that he would gladly give up name and position for his sweetheart. At this the father drew a revolver, and, exclaiming that death for both was better than a dishonored name, he shot his son, and then sent a bullet through his own head.

HUSBAND REGAINS BRIDE STOLEN FOR TWO MONTHS

DUBLIN.—Robert Flynn, of Balinglough, County Leitrim, and his bride, who were boycotted because they were married before a registrar against the wishes of the priest, have been reunited after a two months' separation. After the marriage on March 18 a mob of thirty disguised men broke into Flynn's house and carried away the bride to her father's home. Since then bride and bridegroom have been kept apart, armed men maintaining a blockade of Flynn's house.

On Wednesday the parish priest, Father King, called on Flynn and told him that the ceremony would take place the next day. The long-separated couple accordingly met late on Thursday evening and were united according to the rules of the Catholic Church. As Flynn's bodyguard there came a mob of men and mounted on mountain ponies and armed with every description of farming implement.

Another escort, also mounted and armed, accompanied the bride, but both escorts were ordered to remain outside the chapel while the ceremony was going on. They leaned on their arms, eyeing one another with no friendly feelings, and apparently spoiling for a fight. The tension was relieved by the appearance of the married couple. Some of the rustic fellows delivered speeches as to the necessity for a cessation of hostilities, as the church and the people of the district had now been satisfied by the penance imposed on Flynn. Cheers were then given, the rival factions shook hands and the guests adjourned to the bridegroom's house for the wedding feast.

About 2 o'clock in the morning, when the merry-making was at its height, a score of masked men entered the house and indulged in the wildest horseplay. They kissed the bride, drank deeply and having practically cleared out the place and broken up the festivities, lit a huge bonfire outside the house, tearing down the greater part of the thatch of Flynn's house to feed the flames.

Flynn accepts all as the natural state of things, and seems proud of the victory he has gained over the forces arrayed against him.

Merry Widow Hat Flames Up Like Set-Piece in Fourth of July Pyrotechnics.

NEW YORK.—She started in the Merry Widow hat worn by Mrs. Katherine Anderson of No. 326 Putnam avenue, Brooklyn, and because of inexperience in fighting flames thus located, she received a shock from which she was still suffering last night. Mrs. Anderson consented to tell of her experience for the benefit of women who wear the new style headgear and who may be assailed by a similar fire peril.

She had attended the subway celebration in Jamaica Thursday night in company with her sister, Mrs. John

Julia Marlowe Plays Golf and Catches Trout

Where, and how do queens spend their summers? Is the question, now that theaters are closing, with which theatergoers are much interested. A great many own summer homes and it is there they go to give themselves up for a short time at least to their favorite pastimes. Summer is the actors' playtime when play acting is temporarily suspended and the stars get their only chance to enjoy different sports of which such a large number are devotees.

Julia Marlowe, who closed her season earlier than she expected owing to a serious breakdown, is enjoying a complete rest as far as the theater is concerned. Her time, however, is fully taken up, as she is a good golfer and enjoys trout fishing. At her home, Highmount, in the Catskills, she has a splendid opportunity to indulge in walking, tramping through the woods, as well as climbing steep hills.

This Is the Woman Who Made All the Vanderbilt Troubles

MME. RUIZ

Mme. Ruiz, whose name has been coupled with that of Alfred G. Vanderbilt in connection with the divorce recently procured by Mrs. Vanderbilt, is the wife of an attaché of the Cuban legation at Washington. Her exact identity became known recently when Senator Ruiz filed suit for divorce on statutory grounds. It is said the divorce suit may be followed by a suit against the co-respondent, so far unnamed, for alienation of the affections of Mme. Ruiz.

GIRLS THREATEN STRIKE CLAIMING RICH SCHOLARS ARE SHOWN FAVORITISM

PHILADELPHIA.—Charges of prejudice and favoritism are being freely made by members of the Drexel Institute's class in domestic science. They say that the favoritism has been shown toward pupils of means, and that the prejudice has been demonstrated against Miss Sue E. Ellow, a student from Kansas, to whom a diploma has been denied.

Superintendent MacAllister, of the institute, regards the whole affair as a tempest in a teapot.

"Miss Ellow," said he, "is an excellent student and an estimable young woman, but this course is to produce teachers, and the examiners, viewing her work with pupils, decided that she has not yet qualified in that particular. However, she may now go out as a regular teacher, and if she is satisfactory as such to the head of the school which employs her, the Drexel Institute will give her a diploma dated with those of her class.

"There is no question of a strike among the students. A warm girl friend of Miss Ellow's came with her to my office on Wednesday and demanded that I give Miss Ellow a diploma. When I refused, she threatened what she called an extreme, and I ordered her from my office."

MAN AGED 79 ELOPES WITH BRIDE OF 80

MADISON, WIS.—Rudolph Floetz, 79 years old, a wealthy widower of the village of Prairie du Sac, eloped with Miss Ursula Hunge, 80 years old, his sweetheart of childhood days.

Unknown to his six sons, who had bitterly opposed his marriage, the old bridegroom, and his bride slipped away to Madison and were married by a justice of the peace.

The system of espionage on the old man established by the sons had failed to prevent him carrying out his desire.

The pair were sweethearts in youth and had parted after a petty quarrel. Miss Hunge had never married, waiting a life time for her first love.

$100,000 GOES WITH BRIDE OF WAGE EARNER AS Wedding Gift

PHILADELPHIA.—When he gave his daughter Blanche in marriage to W. K. Korford, an inspector of the Philadelphia Electric Company, and is at the present time a chief inspector for that concern.

He comes of a good family, and his determination to enter the business world in the bottom and go through the entire mill has won him much admiration.

Through the friends of the bride's father told of the big wedding present he gave his daughter and her husband, he himself was modest about admitting it.

"Oh, don't say that! It's only a joke," he said when asked whether or not he had given it.

EXPERT FINDS TWO SOULS IN WOMAN

BOSTON.—Women have two souls, perhaps more, according to President G. Stanley Hall of Clark University. He gave this as the explanation of the "flicking" work of her erratic methods of jumping at conclusions. In his address before the graduating class of the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

"Woman is much more susceptible than man," he said. "There is a good reason for this. We know that she has two or more souls. She may love and hate at the same time and the same person. She may say and think that she is sick or well when the reverse is really true. It means simply that one soul is in the ascendancy. These two souls may be absolute strangers to each other, but they certainly exist."

Condition of Foodless Children Appeals to Wealthy People, and Miss Whitney Sends Them $500

NEW YORK.—Shocked by the disclosures of the sufferings of hungry school children on the lower east side, Miss Dorothy Payne Whitney yesterday sent to Miss Julia Richman, District Superintendent of Schools, a check for $500, accompanied by the following letter:

"My Dear Miss Richman: I have been reading with horror in the newspapers your account of the poor, starving children in New York City. It seems almost too dreadful to believe. At first I did not know how to make a better use of the money I have to spare than any one else would. Therefore I enclose $500, asking you to use it as you see fit, my object in giving being the desire to do what I can for the miserable, underfed children of our city."

Miss Richman said the greatest care would be taken in the distribution of the fund, and that only the most deserving and extreme cases would receive attention.

A story, which is not altogether improbable, has been spread through the east side that as soon as contributions from wealthy persons begin to come in there will be an effort on the part of unscrupulous persons to get some of the money by false stories of distress. It is not at all likely, however, that any such scheme will succeed, as the officers of the newly-created Children's Relief Society are thoroughly familiar with the neighborhoods.

STINGIEST MAN ALIVE DESERVES TO LOSE WIFE

SIX WAYS TO CUT EXPENSES.

1. Calls her husband close-fisted because he is.

2. Orders her son to take long steps to save shoe leather.

3. Weighs all the groceries to keep tabs on their consumption.

4. Counts the sticks of macaroni to guard against the use of too many at one meal.

5. Nibbles the eggs, apples and onions as a check against extravagance.

6. Limited the number of cups of tea and coffee used by the family.

Left home when his wife asked for more than $2.00 a week with which to pay all household expenses.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Minnie Eckhardt wants a divorce from her husband, Henry Eckhardt. She filed a petition in the New Jersey Chancery Court and included a catalogue of alleged shortcomings which she believes entitles her husband to the diamond belt for meanness.

They were married on October 7, 1884, and, on the twelfth anniversary of the event she made bold to ask for an increase in her weekly allowance of $2 to supply the table.

Eckhardt got mad and left the house. Mrs. Eckhardt had not seen him since. She was left without means to care for her 6-year-old son and herself.

Of all her husband's methods to choke the family pocketbook, she says the limit was reached when he made their son take long steps to save shoe leather.

Short-stopping was an extravagance, he said, because the boy could cover just as much ground and save leather by increasing his stride. Mrs. Eckhardt says her husband kept a set of scales under lock and key. He would weigh all the groceries, and if the supply diminished more rapidly than he thought it should, he vented to know why.

It was impossible for Mrs. Eckhardt to make a fat apple pie or a thick custard. Eckhardt, she says, counted the apples and eggs, and even the onions when they were only $1 a bushel. Mrs. Eckhardt sought to denounce Eckhardt tabbing the sticks in a package of macaroni, but it didn't do any good.

Mrs. Eckhardt says she does not know where her husband is at present and the facts came out upon her application for service by publication. She lives at No. 231 East Kinney street, Newark.

DYING WIFE PLEDGES HER HUSBAND TO MARRY NURSE

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J.—Fulfilling the promise to a wife and mother after she had made an unusual request while she lay on her deathbed, Carmine Pallante and Vincenzo Pallante, father and son, will wed Mrs. Annet Izzi and her daughter, Christiana Izzi, of 2847 K street, Kensington, Philadelphia on Sunday. Rev. Dr. Broughal will officiate.

Before Mrs. Pallante died, about six months ago, Mrs. Izzi and daughter were her friends, acted as her nurses, and the manner in which they gave her attention made the dying woman's affection for them stronger than it had ever been before. Realizing that she could not recover, Mrs. Pallante called her husband and son to her bedside and there made them promise to marry her nurses. The nurses gave their assent.

Last Monday the pairs were married in Philadelphia by a justice of the peace, but they have since decided that they want the knot made doubly strong by a church ceremony.

Mysterious Madame Ruiz In the Vanderbilt Divorce

NEW YORK.—Identity of the mysterious "Madame Ruiz" whose name was mentioned in connection with the suit of Mrs. Ellen French Vanderbilt for divorce from Alfred G. Vanderbilt, has become public through another divorce suit, in which Madame Ruiz is the defendant.

Her husband is Senator Don Antonio Ruiz y Olivares, an attaché of the Cuban legation at Washington, and the defendant's name is given as Señora Dona Agnes O'Brien de Ruiz. George Young Baughle, the plaintiff's counsel, has been unable to find her.

There is said to be a strong likelihood that a successful prosecution of the divorce action will be followed by a suit for alienation of affection against a man as yet unnamed. Mr. Baughle said today that the divorce action is based upon infidelity.

"An unknown man" is specified in the complaint, but it is said that when the papers are served the name of the co-respondent will appear.

Mr. Ruiz was married to Mary Agnes O'Brien in this city on August 17, 1903, according to the records. Miss O'Brien gave her birthplace as Missouri and her age as 25 years.

Actress and Actor In Same Hospital

Madame Ruiz is just now in a sanitarium recovering from an operation on her foot. Charles Ross is also in the same hospital waiting for a broken knee cap to mend. However, as soon as Mr. and Mrs. Ross are able, they will go to their bungalow at Astbury Park.

800 Masonic Degrees.

"Gil" Barnard, as he was known to his friends, held more active Masonic offices, and had more degrees than any other member of the order so far as is known. His degrees numbered more than 800, a large proportion being conferred by collateral orders.

Active in Order.

During the last few years of his life Mr. Barnard devoted himself to directing the work of the Masonic bodies of Illinois. He was the active working force in ten big State bodies, writing reports and directing all the details of the work.

Mr. Barnard was an orator of matters of precedent and interpretation of Masonic laws. All disputes that could not be settled elsewhere came to him for final judgment. His office was a storehouse of Masonic data.

His own connections with Masonry began in 1864. The side of the work which occupied him chiefly was the spirit of brotherhood carried into practice. His wife was visited by thousands of Masons in difficulties and he always had help for them.

Mr. Barnard was born in Palmyra, N. Y., in 1834.

employ of W. J. Snyder. On Friday last he left this city with the persons named, intending to engage in business during the summer in Portland and Seattle. On the way north the party stopped off at Redding where an auto trip to one of the places of interest in the vicinity resulted in a serious accident. Mr. Henderson's home was at Moss avenue, near Fairmont. Mrs. Henderson at the time of the accident to her husband was in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Soule was the most painfully injured, but all in the auto were hurt.

FIGHTS TIGER FOR HUSBAND'S LIFE

Woman Jabs Pitchfork in Eyes of Beast and Rescues Victim from Cruel Claws.

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—Herman Gerson, head animal keeper in the Island Park city zoo, was seized by both arms by a big male tiger while washing his cage today. The tiger stripped both arms of flesh from the elbows and almost pulled them from the sockets.

Pitchfork in Beast's Eyes. Gerson's wife came to the rescue, and by jamming the beast in the eyes and breast with a pitchfork pried its teeth and claws loose. The woman fought for her husband's life for fully five minutes in the loneliness of the park and carried him, mangled and unconscious, to their cottage near by.

Chaws Man's Arm. As the tiger's claws closed on Gerson's arm, the keeper, who was holding a small hose, turned the nozzle in the animal's face. The tiger, with a huge paw, clawed Gerson's other arm and the keeper called his wife, who was in the cottage.

Roar of Tiger. The roar of the tiger created a pandemonium among the animals, and as Mrs. Gerson sank a pitchfork into the tiger's eye the animal's eyes yells from the line of cages redoubled.

Desperate Battle. The fight between the woman and the man lasted several minutes, ending only when Mrs. Gerson directed the fork into the animal's eyes. Mayor Hayer today ordered the bars of the tiger's cage strengthened.

Adviser of Grant to Second Taft

GEORGE H. WILLIAMS.

CHICAGO, June 18.—George H. Williams, sole surviving member of President Grant's cabinet, will, at the age of 85 years, second the nomination of W. H. Taft before the Republican convention.

Judge Williams is a remarkable well preserved man. There is the claim of his friends of "Oregon's Grand Old Man" but he is getting younger every day. He was born in New York in 1823, and became judge of the First Iowa district in 1847, and a Presidential elector at large from that State in 1862.

He later became chief justice of the Oregon country and was chairman of the convention which drafted the constitution for the State, being active in urging the rejection of slavery.

He was elected United States senator in 1864, and became a member of the reconstruction committee of that body.

As a senator, he was the author of the "measure of office act" which kept Republicans all over the country from being turned out of office by President Johnson. He also was the author of the military reconstruction law, while ten States were in a condition of anarchy. Under the law chaos was converted to order.

In 1871, Senator Williams was appointed one of the joint commissioners to frame a treaty for the settlement of the Alabama claims and other questions in dispute with Great Britain.

OCEANIC COMPANY IS IN DIRE STRAITS

Losses of the Spreckels Corporation Reach the Staggering Amount of $10,500,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Will the Spreckels family permit the Oceanic Steamship Company to default in its bond payment at the end of this month and force the holders of its $2,400,000 of bonds to foreclose on its property?

This is an interesting question just at present in financial and steamship circles. At the end of this month the company will owe $120,250 in interest. Half of this sum, or $60,125, is the defaulted interest of last January. The other half is the interest due July 1st next. The six months' equity period in which the company can pay the January default expires the end of this month.

Up to the Bondholders. If it is not paid that the bondholders, of whom there are about 300, must take the property. If it does pay the January interest and defaults in the July interest, it will have a breathing spell of six months in which to pay the latter. The failure of Congress to pass a ship subsidy bill has greatly discouraged the Spreckels people and perhaps on that account they may throw up the sponge, it is said.

They canceled their Australian service over a year and a half ago because it was a big loser. Since then they have only maintained a service to Tahiti and one to Honolulu.

The Company's Property. The property of the company consists principally of five steamships, namely, the Mariposa, Alameda, Sierra, Ventura and Sonoma.

Yesterday the bonds of the company were quoted at 40. Several years ago they stood at 108. The stock at one time was at 120. Today the outstanding $3,450 shares have no market value, there being a perfunctory quotation of 1-14 cents a share.

The losses of the Spreckels family to date in the Oceanic are estimated at $5,200,000 in round numbers, and those of the outside public in the securities of the company at $3,721,000.

The total shrinkage in the company's stocks and bonds to date, in addition to a $2,000,000 contract it owes the Spreckels family personally and $2,000,000 in stock assessments, represents a financial collapse of almost $10,500,000.

Fined for Breach of Contract.

TAHITI, June 5.—The Oceanic Steamship Company has been convicted of breach of contract by the District of the Court of Papeete and condemned to pay into the treasury of Tahiti the sum of $5,000. The case arises out of the accident to the company's steamer Mariposa last October when the boiler broke down. It is understood that the steamship company will appeal the matter to the highest courts of France if necessary.

It is stated that the members of the court represented the plaintiff in this action.

DISTINGUISHED RABBI DIES AT RIPE AGE

CHICAGO, June 19.—Rabbi Joseph Komisar, 7 years of age, one of the best known Jews in the west and head of the Orthodox Jewish church in Chicago, died yesterday at the Michael Reese Hospital, where he had undergone an operation.

Rabbi Komisar was largely responsible for the establishing of a section in the large slaughterhouse at the stock yards where kosher meat is handled.

A BOOMERANG. A politician relates that he was making a speech last week when he was annoyed by the frequent interruptions of an opposition voter who seemed bent on making trouble.

"My friends," said the speaker, determined to suppress the disturber, "haven't you heard the story of how a braying ass put to flight the entire Syrian army?"

"Don't you be afraid of this audience," shouted the disturber, "at the meeting: 'There ain't no danger of it stampeding! You've tested it!'"—Chicago Journal.

THREE BIG DOCKS TO COST MILLION

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Official advice has been received at the Presidio that the contract for the three huge government transport docks and the reclamation of tide flats near Fort Mason has been awarded by the war department to T. J. Carlin, a New York contractor, whose bid for $1,197,000 was the lowest of seven submitted.

Will Begin at Once. Carlin will arrive in San Francisco next Monday and after looking over the ground will take steps for beginning the work at once. Within a month it is expected that construction will be well under way.

Take a Year to Finish. The docks will be completed in about a year and a half, most of the steel required on the job being furnished by the Carnegie steel company.

The building of the transport docks will be the most important piece of government work undertaken here in several years.

Your Stomach Is Your Friend

If you have a good stomach and wish to keep it, steer clear of lard-cooked food. Lard is made from hog fat, and is more apt to be impure than it is to be clean and healthful.

Cottolene is the most reliable frying and shortening medium. It is a pure, wholesome, digestible product, that is bound to be more satisfactory than lard wherever it is given a fair test.

Besides being more healthful, Cottolene is more economical than lard or cooking butter, one-third less being required. It will, moreover, make more nutritious food than either lard or butter.

With all these advantages on the side of Cottolene, what argument have you for not using it? Your own grocer, if he is progressive, has Cottolene for sale. Buy a pail to-day, use it according to directions, and we will warrant you will never go back to the lard habit.

Hundreds of tons of water broke over the ship, which was thrown over on her beam end and her cargo shifted, one man being washed overboard and drowned.

Privation of Crew.
This man, John Silvester, a seaman, was the only one on deck. Had others been there they could not have escaped. On her beam the crew re-shifted her coal cargo for five days with only cold meat and water as food.

Galley Swept Away.
The galley and gear were swept away and eighteen days later they worked the vessel into Montevideo, where she was repaired.

Danger From Icebergs.
While near Falkland Island the ship got into a big field of icebergs and almost collided with one passing between two during a fog, so close that her yards touched one.

Bad Luck Chapter Ends.
When nearing Victoria, J. Mantion, a seaman, fell thirty feet into the hold and was brought ashore suffering from internal injuries and sprains to wrist and leg.

CHOSEN SENATOR NATIONAL UNION

HARRY S. ANDERSON

Harry S. Anderson Honored by Members of Fraternal Organization.

Harry S. Anderson, a well-known young business man of this city, secretary of the Republican county central committee and chairman of the committee of arrangements for the grand endorsement in August 11th, 1908, and member in Thirteenth and Jefferson streets of the Republican national committee, was elected to the National Union of the National Union, which has twice elected a senator in the fraternal order of the National Union, one council from each of the cities of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley.

The organization has both state and national jurisdiction. The state representative body is known as the assembly and the members composing it are styled delegates. These represent the subordinate councils.

The national representative body is designated the senate and the members composing it are known as senators. The latter are elected by the several state assemblies.

The next session of the senate is to be held at Point Comfort, Va. in July and in that gathering Mr. Anderson will be one of the representatives of California.

Harry S. Anderson was the unanimous choice of the councils of Alameda county for senator in the National Union. He is an Alameda county man by birth and education. He was born in Oakland on September 13, 1877, and was educated in the schools and colleges of his native county. Over the years he has become identified with the National Union as a charter member of Oakland Council 973 and ever since that time he has been closely connected with the advancement of the order on this side of the bay.

His record in the National Union is that of an earnest and enthusiastic worker for the order. He was the first financial secretary of Oakland Council 973 and held that office for five years when he was advanced to the position of president which he filled for one term. Since that time he has been closely connected with the rapidly growing organization. He is the past president of the National Union, having been elected to that position at the annual convention of the order, which was held at the Point Richmond on the north through Berkeley, Oakland, Alameda, Fruitvale and down to San Jose. It was through his efforts that the National Union was given a day of the year, the day of the National Union, and he made the day the most important day of the exposition. He arranged it and carried out a program that brought the National Union to the attention of hundreds of thousands of people and he and his committee maintained a table at the carnival where visitors were welcomed and where National Union literature was distributed to everyone.

HEART FAILURE KILLED WENIGER

Friends of Dead Man Say He Was Not Victim of Fatal Undertow.

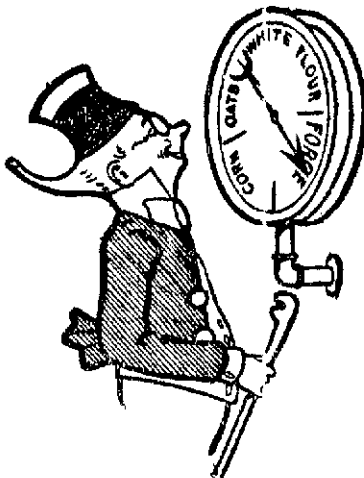

That Peter Weniger, who lost his life at the Ocean Beach on Monday, was not carried to his death by the undertow there that has claimed many victims is asserted by his friends.

Smothered After Shock. Weniger they say was a victim of heart failure and was smothered in shallow water after collapsing from shock immediately after he entered the water. This theory is endorsed by a prominent physician who knew him well.

It is known that Weniger never ventured beyond a depth of a foot or two in the dangerous surf at the beach. Action of Undertaker. When the undertow at the beach claims a victim it seldom returns the body at all, never in less than two or three days. Weniger's body was found inside of an hour after he had gone for his plunge.

You may call every creature under heaven fool and rogue and your auditor will join with you heartily in hint to him the slightest of his own defects or foibles and he draws his rapier—Walter Savage Landor.

How's your steam-gauge?

You can't get up a full head of steam for the human engine by putting poor "fuel" under the boiler.

"FORCE"

is the best energy-producing fuel because it contains all the strength-giving material in the whole wheat, made digestible by steam cooking, malting, flaking and baking. Every particle of it is converted into muscle, bone and brain.

"FORCE" is made of the best white wheat, steam-cooked, rolled into thin flakes, combined with the purest barley malt and baked. Always "crisp" it before serving it by pouring into a pan and warming it in oven. Then serve in large dish with cream, piling the flakes on one side of the dish and pouring the cream in the other side, dipping the flakes as eaten.

Your Grocer sells it.

No other Flaked Food is "just as good."

IRISH DANCES TO BE FEATURE OF PICNIC.

Games and Races Planned For the Star of the Sea Parish Outing.

An immense crowd will attend the picnic of the Star of the Sea (Irish) San Francisco at Shillanoun Park tomorrow. The picnic will be one of the most popular of the season and all the members of the League of the Cross in Oakland are enthusiastic in its support. It is the pastor of the Star of the Sea, Rev. Father Philip O'Han, who has been the head of the League of the Cross for the past twelve years.

A band of twelve pieces will be on hand to furnish music all day and there will be racing and athletic events for young and old, men and women.

Dancing All Day
Dancing will be held in the pavilion all day and a special feature under the leadership of Mr. Thomas McMillon, the Gaelic dancer, will furnish music for Irish dances. All the expert Irish dancers around the bay will compete for prizes. There will also be a tug of war between picked teams. The price of admission to the park is 50 cents.

AUDIENCE HAVE CHANGED
They don't write comic operas like they used to, said Mr. Storming Barnes. They used to have jokes then that made people laugh. You answered the manager, but you must remember that in those days they had audiences who could be made to laugh. —Memphis Commercial Appeal.

THINKS IT SAVED HIS LIFE
Lester M. Nelson of Naples, Maine, says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints and would no more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years New Discovery has stood at the head of "throat and lung remedies" as a preventive of pneumonia and cures of weak lungs. It has no equal. Sold under guarantee at Osgood Bros' drug stores 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil for such emergencies. It subdues the pain and heals the hurts.

J. DALZELL ROBERTSON DENIES IMMUNITY PACT

Former Bank Attache Is Severely Cross-Examined

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—The final links in the legal chain of evidence are being welded by Assistant District Attorney Cook around Walter J. Bartlett, former vice-president of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company, concerning his alleged immunity pact with the defendant, J. Dalzell Robertson, concerning the robbery of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company.

For the first time since the opening of the trial, J. Dalzell Robertson was sworn as a witness, and was subjected to the merciless cross-examination of Attorney Cook. Robertson was questioned concerning his arrangements with the district attorney's office regarding immunity and his indictment on a charge of falsifying the books of the wrecked bank. Robertson was indignant as he sat on the stand and frequently appealed to the court to protect him from the insinuations of the defendant's attorney.

Former Bank Commissioner.

Z. S. Edridge, former bank commissioner, and now president of the National Bank of the Pacific, was called today to the witness stand by the prosecution at the opening of the trial of J. Dalzell Robertson, the alleged bank robber. He was questioned as to an examination he made as bank commissioner into the affairs of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company at which the defendant was present. The witness was not cross-examined by the defense, and M. A. Murphy, manager of the Carnegie Brick & Pottery Company, was called.

Did Not Confer With Bartlett.

On cross-examination the witness stated that he had never met or spoken to Bartlett in connection with this transaction.

Attorney Cook then recalled James Canning, secretary of the wrecked bank, who stated that both himself and J. Dalzell Robertson had had charge of the bonds.

Robertson, the former fugitive from justice, and assistant secretary of the California Safe Deposit & Trust Company, was then placed on the stand. J. Dalzell Robertson was excused from the court room during the examination at the request of Attorney Geary.

Robertson said he was in charge of the bonds, but did not credit any coupons to the Colton estate and Cook quickly turned him over for cross-examination.

"You are under indictment for a felony, are you not?"

An objection was overruled, and the witness replied in the affirmative.

Denies Immunity Contract.

The witness denied he was testifying under an immunity contract, or that his wife had negotiated for his release prior to his giving himself up to the district attorney. Attorney Geary, however, succeeded in showing that he had been released on $12,000 bonds, whereas Brown had been held in the sum of $20,000.

Brown took the witness stand following Robertson, but after question propounded by Cook was ruled out by the court and after a few moments former president Walker was called. He said that in 1906 he had become president of the Interborough Bank of New York at the request of Bartlett.

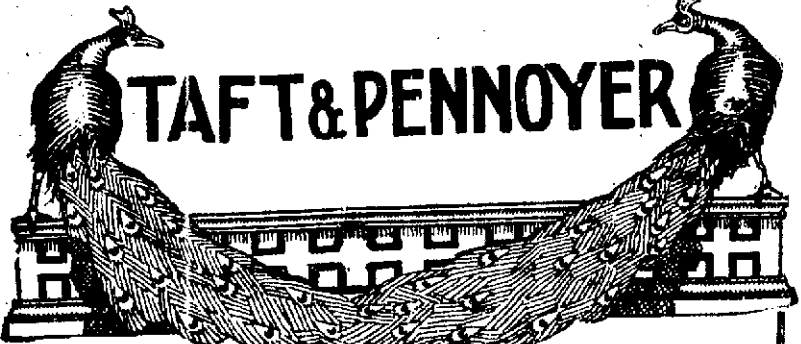

Prosecution Closes.

The prosecution in the Bartlett case announced that it had concluded the evidence just before the noon adjournment today. Attorney Geary stated that Bartlett himself would be placed on the stand by the defense at 2 o'clock this afternoon when court reconvenes.

It is thought that the defense will conclude its side of the case today and that the arguments will take all of Monday. The fate of the defendant will therefore be very likely in the hands of the jury by Monday night.

Well, It's the Old Story

We have never tried to fool the public with false sales or prices, and when we advertised that our glasses were worth from $15 to $25 for $7.75, and the other bargain that we have had displayed in our windows, we found it hard to handle the rush. The people just knew that this was a genuine sale, and every item that we advertised is a genuine truth.

Today we have added to the sale. All of our men's $2.50 and $3 shoes at 25c off. Now, think of it. A quarter off of all these splendid values on $2.50 and $3.00 shoes.

FAINTS WHEN JURY ANNOUNCE VERDICT

Young Berkeley Electrician is

Convicted of Having Passed a Worthless Check.

L. Howard Mendell, a young Berkeley electrician, was found guilty of forgery last night by a jury in Judge Ogden's court. When the verdict was read Mendell fainted and had to be taken to the hospital.

Mendell testified in his own behalf yesterday afternoon and said that he had been injured by a Key Route train in Berkeley over a year ago and never had been competent since then. He said that if he passed a forged check on Raymond L. Pond, a Berkeley druggist, he did not know what he was doing. He has suffered quite often from lapses of memory. He attempted to prove temporary insanity.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB TO ASK FOR MORE LIGHTS

BERKELEY, June 19.—The residents of the northwest portion of the Seventeenth ward want better lights and will ask the trustees to increase the number along Camella street from Third to Sixth streets. The matter is in the hands of the West End Protective Club, which discussed the conditions at a meeting in Duggan's hall last night.

The club will hereafter meet every Wednesday night instead of every other Wednesday. Although the subject was but little discussed, the improvement club expressed itself unofficially as favoring the secession movement. A dance will be given soon by the club members.
